Loxodrome – ReMap 4

CAMP participates in ReMap4 with Loxodrome exhibition.

Loxodrome / A project by Augustus Veinoglou and Irini Bachlitzanaki

Loxodrome is an intervention / site-specific installation on the second floor of Iasonos 47 st. As part of this installation the space hosting the project is sculpturally approached through interventions and additions on the space itself as well as other objects / readymades that are incorporated and adjusted to the space. The sculptural manipulation aims towards reappropriating the space, unifying it and creating the circumstances that allow for its empirical experience on the part of the visitor. Similarly to a brief stop in the middle of a long journey, Loxodrome aims to create an enclosed universe, urging the visitor to explore “alternative routes”, different viewpoints and experience alternative micro-destinations – to let loose in the investigation of the new dimension proposed.

At the same time, the installation acts as a platform and an exhibition space for works that form part of the project. Works by guest artists are incorporated into the work, mark the space and become part of a uniform whole, suggesting an alternative view of the architectural built environment hosting the project.

Participating artists: Irini Bachlitzanaki, Alice Evans, Clare Flatley, Dimitris Georgakopoulos, Villi Manolakou, Ifigenia Papamikroulea, Maria Tzanakou, Christos Vagiatis, Augustus Veinoglou
